Bridgewater, NJ – May 29, 2007 – Alpharma Inc. (NYSE: ALO), a leading global specialty pharmaceutical company, announces its internationally recognized Animal Health Division has introduced RestorAID EQ™, a patented equine wound care product for U.S. distribution.

RestorAID EQ is a nutritive wound skin cream for topical use on all horses and is formulated to efficiently heal and reduce scarring from superficial wounds and skin lesions. Available in convenient 4 oz. and 16 oz. bottles, RestorAID EQ contains the unique active ingredient Arginine Aminobenzoate to promote microcirculation for self-healing and natural cell repair.

The spray applicator delivers RestorAID EQ directly to the wound to avoid discomfort. The non-stinging cream formula supports a natural healing response to increase wound repair and reduce scarring.

“We are excited to see this product released for U.S. Distribution. RestorAID EQ™ joins Extend-A-Cool® in our line of Equine Products for Alpharma Animal Health. We’ll continue to support our growing network of equine professionals and retail partners with products that address the most important horse health concerns of the equine community,” said Christopher Smith, Vice President, New Business Development.
